WOMEN WIN EVENTS IN CLOSING OF SHOW

Their Horses Take Five of the Firsts in the Contests on Rollins Field.

MISS LONG A VICTOR

Local Entries Capture Several Places in the Last Evening Event.

That women are better horsemen than men, paradoxical as it may seem, is the conclusion to be drawn from the results of the events in the Commencement Horse Show last night. The women took five firsts, and in no event where a woman was entered was she defeated.

Miss Loula Long of Kansas City and Miss Myrene Houchin of Jefferson City were there with the most firsts, each carrying off two trophies. Miss Long won the gig horse and the champion harness horse events with her famous Illustration. Nickel Plate, ridden by Miss Houchin, was easily the best lady's saddle horse, while her pair, Sporting Extra and Nala's Maid, had no opposition in the event for harness horses.

Ruth St. Denis, owned by Blades & Holman of Holliday, surprised the crowd when she took the championship saddle horse event from Johnny Jones, belonging to Paul Brown of St. Louis. Blades & Holman also took two seconds, one with Dan Mathews in the combination horse event and the other with Cathryn Countess the junior saddle horse event.

Belle Beach, the high school horse, owned by Dinks L. Parrish of St. Louis, pleased the crowd with an exhibition.

Here is the list of last night's winners:

Board of Curators Arranges for a Revision of M. U. Curriculum.

The Board of Curator in its annual session this morning changed the name of the School of Commerce to the School of Commerce and Administration.

The change, made at the suggestion of President A. Ross Hill, will enlarge the scope of this department to include the training of students for public service as well as business management. This will include training for the position of city manager, now becoming important with the spread of the commission form of government. The added courses will be planned to train students for branches of public and social service.

Isidor Loeb, dean of the University faculty, was appointed dean of the school to fill the place of Dean H. J. Davenport, whose resignation was accepted by the board. To the new dean will be left the work of planning the courses required by the addition to the curriculum.

Leon Ardzoomi, instructor in economics, tendered his resignation from the School of Commerce faculty. Dr. J. H. Rogers, assistant in economics at Yale University, was appointed to fill this vacancy.

Dr. Dan G. Stine, A. B. '07, was appointed associate professor in the department of clinical medicine and surgery. Doctor Stine returns to the University of Missouri after three years' study at Harvard University, where he took his M. D. in 1911.

Other faculty changes made during the morning session are:

Lord Kitchenier was harshly assailed in several speeches, when Churchill called forth a measure in the House of Commons for a reduction in Kitchenier's salary. Churchill claimed Kitchenier is inefficient.

SAYS GREATEST NEED IS FINANCIAL SUPPORT

Forrest Donnell, '04, Tells Alumni How They Can Aid Board of Curators.

CITES ACHIEVEMENTS

Speaker Urges Association to Work for New State Constitution.

That the Alumni Association can best help the Board of Curators to obtain for the University adequate support by getting behind the movement for a state constitutional convention was the opinion expressed this morning by Forrest Donnell, A. B. '04, LL. B. '07, St. Louis lawyer, who delivered the annual alumni address in the University Auditorium. He spoke on "The University—What It Is, Its Needs, and What the Alumni Can Do for It."

The speaker pointed out the great growth of the University, and its present standing among other state institutions. "The growth in attendance in the last fifteen years has been nearly twelve times as rapid as in all the years preceding," he said.

Points to M. U. Achievements.
Some of the achievements of the University of Missouri pointed out by the speaker are:

A library which ranks fourth among state universities in point of number of volumes and which is exceeded by none in point of selection; an Extension Division which last year served 21,000 Missourians who could not attend the University; a School of Medicine which is one of the two two-year schools in the Middle West ranking A plus, and the only one of that rank between St. Louis and San Francisco; the first School of Journalism in the United States, one which ranks first in everything today among the forty universities which have followed its example in offering instruction in journalism; its School of Education, which has been proclaimed by noted authorities the best training school for teachers in the United States; a College of Agriculture which the United States Secretary of Agriculture says saves the farmers of Missouri much more money than it costs; a School of Law which the Dean of the Harvard Law School says ranks first among all state universities in this country.

Tells of Immediate Needs.

In discussing the immediate needs of the University Mr. Donnell mentioned a Women's Building, a new Mechanics Arts Building, a building for the School of Education, a new astronomical observatory and a new University Auditorium.

"More imperative than all these, however, is the need of better and more stable support," he continued. "Both of its means of revenue—appropriation from the general revenue fund and from the inheritance tax fund of the state—are unsatisfactory, because it makes all state institutions of all kinds competitors for an appropriation, and when one fares well another probably suffers. The Legislature has been appropriating largely from the inheritance tax fund, which is an uncertain revenue for the University, because whether or not it gets all of its appropriation depends on how many people die. The University deserves to be freed from the position of a beggar at Jefferson City. It needs a constitutional provision assuring a stable revenue."

The speaker pointed out the need of tax reform in Missouri. Practically all of the surrounding states have less population than Missouri, yet in many cases have twice as much revenue, he said.

Would Have Tax Commission.

"I believe the ultimate remedy will be a state tax commission to replace the state board of equalization. But that hope seems to me to be a long way off. A constitutional amendment to that effect would be defeated at an election just now."

"What then, can the Alumni Association do to help the University to best advantage? I think the 10,000 former students should join with the 5,000 graduates of the school to work for a new state constitution. We should work with other organizations who are pushing this movement."

The speaker said he favored the Missouri Union idea and he would like to see the Alumni Association amalgamated with the Union. He urged the appointment of a committee to assist the Board of Curators in obtaining the best possible support from the state under the existing laws

THE WEATHER

For Columbia and vicinity: Unsettled weather tonight and Thursday, probably showers; a little warmer tonight.

For Missouri: Showers tonight and Thursday; warmer tonight east portion.

Weather Conditions.

A low pressure condition in the Atlantic is giving showers along the coast from Florida to New England, and another along the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains is causing unsettled weather in most of the territory west of the Mississippi River. Up to 4 a. m. this morning, however, there had been no rain in the principal grain states or in the cotton region.

A high pressure wave that has come out of the Hudson Bay territory is giving cooler weather in the Lake region and generally north of the Ohio River. There was a heavy frost in Northern Michigan last night.

In Columbia the weather will be unsettled, probably with showers during the next thirty-six hours.

Local Data.

The highest temperature in Columbia yesterday was 80 and the lowest last night was 62; precipitation, .00; relative humidity 2 p. m. yesterday 38 per cent. A year ago yesterday the highest temperature was 62 and the lowest 56; precipitation, .00.

and another committee to work with other organizations for a constitutional convention.

ONE MORE DAY LEFT

Commencement Exercises Tomorrow Will End M. U.'s Festival Week.

One more day of reunions, speeches and luncheons and the seventy-fourth annual commencement of the University of Missouri will be a fact of history. And in the brief space of this last day 630 young men and women of Missouri and many other states will bridge the chasm which separates the University student from the alumnus.

The alumni will continue their day of reunions this evening, when the graduates of the School of Law will hold their annual banquet in the Virginia Tea Room, with E. J. White, '91, counsel for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, as toastmaster. The banquet will start at 7 o'clock. More than seventy tickets had been sold up to noon today.

At the same hour the alumni lawyers begin their banquet, the University Glee Club will entertain the other alumni with a short song program at the Columns. At 7:45 o'clock the University women will present "A Midsummer Night's Dream" on an open-air stage arranged on the west side of the president's lawn or, in case of rain, in the University Auditorium. This will end the day of events for the alumni.

The Commencement Day program will begin at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow with the academic procession into the University Auditorium. At 10 o'clock the commencement exercises will begin. Announcement of prizes and honors and the conferring of degrees upon the graduates will be followed by the annual address to the graduating class by President A. Ross Hill. At the close of the address the graduates will file out of the auditorium and surround the Columns for their final exercises. The class count will be taken, "Old Missouri" will be sung and the big circle of seniors will have become alumni of the University of Missouri.

The graduates will immediately assume their new place in the University sun by attending the annual alumni luncheon at Rothwell Gymnasium, which will start at 12:30 o'clock. More than 400 are expected to attend. The banquet is open to the public, the idea that only alumni should attend being wrong, according to Secretary H. H. Kinyon of the Alumni Association.

Commencement Week will end with the reception by the president and the Board of Curators to the alumni, the graduating class and the guests of the University at Rothwell Gymnasium at 9 p. m.

Examinations will begin at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

T. R. ERASES HYPHEN IN ST. LOUIS SPEECH

Former President Tears It to Pieces Before the German-Americans.

IS CITY OF TEUTONS

Missouri Metropolis Has the Second Largest Population of Kind in U. S.

By United Press.

ST. LOUIS, May 31.—Roosevelt dissected, flayed and exorcised hyphenated Americans here this afternoon in the city having the second largest German-American population in the United States. He is seldom as vitriolic as he was today.

"I stand for straight Americanism unconditioned and unqualified, and I stand against every form of hyphenated Americanism," said Colonel Roosevelt. "I do not speak of the hyphen when it is employed as a mere matter of convenience, although personally I like to avoid its use even in such manner. I speak of and condemn its use whenever it represents an effort to form political parties along racial lines or to bring pressure to bear on parties and politicians, not for American purposes, but in the interest of some group of voters of a certain national origin, or of the country from which they or their fathers came."

"Americanism is not a matter of creed, birthplace or national descent, but of the soul and of the spirit. If the American has the right stuff in him, I care not a snap of my fingers whether he is Jew or Gentile, Catholic, or Protestant."

UNION IDEA INDORSED

Alumni Association Votes to Back the Plan and Elects Officers.

The Student Alumni Union was indorsed by the Alumni Association by an unanimous vote this morning.

It was the prevailing opinion of the alumni present that the Union would serve as a tie to bind the graduates and former students of the University closer together and that it would tend to strengthen the University over the entire state.

"The movement has been indorsed by the faculty and the students," said Edward L. White of St. Louis, "and to my mind it would be an effective agency for strengthening the school." Mr. White moved the adoption of the constitution for the Union previously drawn up. The motion was seconded by Emil Roehrig, LL. B. '07, of Warrenton.

All the alumni at the meeting favored immediate steps for the erection of a building for the Union.

The constitution adopted provides that twenty directors shall be elected, nine from the alumni, nine from the student body and two from the faculty. The alumni elected the following directors this morning: E. W. Stephens and C. B. Rollins of Columbia, and Gardner Lathrop of Chicago to serve one year; C. B. Farris of Caruthersville, T. T. Crittenden of Kansas City and Mrs. E. F. Nelson of Jefferson City to serve two years; G. H. Moore and F. C. Donald of St. Louis and R. B. Caldwell of Kansas City, to serve three years.

The following officers for the Alumni Association were elected: President, Allen McReynolds of Carthage; first vice-president, L. M. Defoe of Columbia; second vice-president, Miss Kathryn Spangler of Clinton, treasurer, S. F. Conley of Columbia. Reports of all officers for the past year were read.
